

NFL FOOTBALL ON THE BIG SCREEN AT CINEBISTRO

 TAMPA EVENTS  SEPTEMBER 17, 2012  COMMENTS OFF

Sure there are bars all around the Bay that offer HD TV's and Monday Night Football specials, but now there is somewhere even better than a bar to catch the game — the movie theater.

Hyde Park's CineBistro and its dine while you watch theater concept, is showing all Monday Night NFL games (and the Bucs vs Vikings Thruway Night game) in High Definition this season. So now you can watch the game on the big screen and best of all, its free.

Tickets are available on game day at the concierge desk and doors to the theater open a half an hour prior to the kick off. (You must be 21 for admission into any CineBistro theater event.)

CineBistro's full menu which includes salads, appetizers (great cheese & crackers and chip & dip choices), entrees (ranging from pasta to ribs to salmon), and desserts will be available during the game. Full bar service will also be available with beer by the pitcher and wine by the bottle, among their signature cocktails, martinis and mojotos.

So give up the bar stool, sit back in one of CineBistro's high-back, rocking, leather chairs and enjoy the game in an atmosphere that might even be better than front row at the stadium.
